are intensified and intellectual activity is weakened. Taken into account the abovementioned, it is necessary to improve your voice.

No matter what a man’s voice since birth is. Through the practice you will be able to develop the voice that would match your professional skills and personality. If a law enforcement officer is often asked to repeat what he’s just said, if the students need to be explained the presence of a head (an authority) in front of them, there is no understanding because of the conversation. You should work at improving your pronunciation, voice control if: there is a fear of public speaking; the specific accent is heard; the uttered sound «p» vibrates either dull, unpleasant or artificially in the microphone; it is monotonous and the audience loses the interest quickly; the voice control is lost at the end of long sentences; the words or expressions such as «uh», «um», «so», «you know what» are frequently repeated; you don’t like your own voice.
